Alert: Any call that has a special or artificial meaning must be immediately made known to the opponents using the alert card. Since the event is attended by people from various nations where different bidding systems, natural and conventional, are in use, players are recommended to keep them as simple as possible and alert when necessary. When in doubt, it is advisable to always use the alert card. The "Double" is not alerted (but opponents are always free to ask), except when it has a specific artificial meaning. Both members of the pair must adopt the same meaning for both bidding calls and defensive card play. Each pair must have a convention card written in English.

Program: The number of boards during each session will be determined by the number of players registered for the tournament and actually present at the various game sessions. In any case, the completion of a regular
